

Bill Analysis

- Full, no cost, audit
- Highlight areas for savings
- Determine trends and possible abuse

What can a bill analysis show me?

We find that whilst corporate accounts are aware of headline costs, many do not realise how some of the charges levied by their mobile provider can be dramatically reduced. The bottom line figures can be an eye opener for many customers.

Garnell offer a full mobile account audit, which includes "bill analysis", our audits often highlight that incorrect tariffs are being utilised and show how simple amendments can have a significant impact on annual costs.

But surely I can get billing analysis from my provider?

Whilst simple analysis tools are readily available from most providers, we find that clients seldom use the software, conversely the actual network provider does not always actively highlight "every area" in which savings can be made, after all, they are benefiting from applying higher charges.

This is exactly where Garnell fits in, ensuring that the most appropriate charges are applied and providing the data in simple, easy to view format so that the client can take full control of expenditure.

Can you give me a direct comparison?

"We do not charge for our audit and are often able to offer considerable savings."

Our systems are extremely flexible and our account managers able to provide clear reports and recommendations with direct comparisons presented in a clear, straightforward manner. Furthermore our reports can identify moving trends in call traffic, perhaps highlighting cross network calls, international expenditure, as well as any possible employee abuse.

We do not charge for our audit and are often able to offer considerable savings.
